PROPOSED BOOK DISPATCH

1. ODUNIT Headquarters has issued instructions to its major commands which will ultimately supercede [REDACTED] and result in certain changes in ODUNIT's internal procedures for providing support to KUBARK activities. These changes may or may not affect the standard support procedures and liaison practices presently in effect between KUBARK and ODUNIT field activities dependent upon an evaluation of local factors by the ODUNIT major command concerned. There will, however, be no fundamental change in the type and extent of basic support available to KUBARK activities from ODUNIT sources. 25X1A6c

2. Since ODUNIT Headquarters views these instructions as strictly internal implementation of a general agreement to support KUBARK to the extent of ODUNIT capabilities, the past practice of authorizing copies of the ODUNIT Headquarters instructions for dissemination to KUBARK field activities has been discontinued. 25X1A2d2

3. Salient aspects of these instructions which might affect KUBARK field activities are the following:

- a. The stress placed on all aspects of security as well as plausible denial in handling KUBARK support.
- b. The emphasis on KUBARK's high priority for support.
- c. The suggestion that each major command establish a special staff focal point for any required coordination of KUBARK support matters as well as a tight system of liaison contact particularly in subordinate units.

d. A special procedure for handling communications in ODUNIT channels which relate to KUBARK support.

In addition, special annexes on personnel, logistics, medical, and comptroller procedural matters are included in the instructions.

4. The foregoing is for information purposes only and should not be considered as a basis for initiating contact with any ODUNIT representatives on possible revisions contemplated in the presently-established method of operation. If any changes affecting KUBARK field activities in a given command area are to be instituted, lateral contact with a KUBARK representative should be initiated by an ODUNIT representative at the appropriate level and required coordination effected.

5. It is requested that appropriate KUBARK elements in your area of jurisdiction be notified of the foregoing. It is further requested that Headquarters continue to be advised of any substantive problems encountered as a result of implementation of the ODUNIT Headquarters instructions.
